The comic is written by the team behind the popular CinemaSins YouTube channel, which has over 10 million subscribers. The team is known for their witty and irreverent commentary on movies, and the comic is no exception.

The comic is divided into several chapters, each of which focuses on a different aspect of the film. The chapters cover everything from the film's plot to its characters to its animation. The team also takes aim at some of the film's more ridiculous moments.

The comic is illustrated by artist Joe Quinones, who has worked on a number of popular comic books, including Howard the Duck and Spider-Man. Quinones' art style is perfectly suited to the comic, and his illustrations are both funny and expressive.

The CinemaSins Comic: Everything Wrong with Flutter Brutter is a must-read for fans of the film and for anyone who enjoys a good laugh. The comic is a hilarious and insightful look at one of the most popular animated films of all time.

Here are a few of the sins that the comic points out:

- The film's plot is full of holes.
- The characters are one-dimensional and unlikable.
- The animation is often cheap and sloppy.
- The film is full of unnecessary and pointless scenes.
- The film's ending is a complete cop-out.

Despite these sins, the CinemaSins Comic: Everything Wrong with Flutter Brutter is still a fun and enjoyable read. The team's commentary is always witty and insightful, and Quinones' illustrations are a delight to look at.

If you're a fan of the film or if you just enjoy a good laugh, then I highly recommend checking out the CinemaSins Comic: Everything Wrong with Flutter Brutter.
